

Betsy Broder is Counsel for International Consumer Protection at the Federal Trade Commission. A career consumer protection attorney, Betsy has worked in numerous capacities at the FTC. In her current position, Betsy is responsible for a wide variety of consumer protection issues, including coordinated enforcement, technical assistance, and development of policy initiatives. Betsy was the FTC's representative on the U.S. delegation to UNCITRAL's Working Group III, which developed the first formal international text that recognizes and supports online dispute resolution for consumer initiated dispute resolution. Prior to her current position, Betsy served in numerous supervisory positions at the FTC, including management of the Divisions of Marketing Practices, Privacy and Identity Protection, and Planning and Information, where she oversaw the establishment and implementation of the FTC's identity theft program and directed the FTC's role in the President's Identity Theft Task Force. Betsy also was Chief of the FTC's Criminal Liaison Unit, and served as a legal advisor to the Director of the Bureau of Consumer Protection.