

Barbara R. McLemore, Vice President and General Counsel; Gannett Fleming, Inc., Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Barbara R. McLemore, Esquire is Vice President and General Counsel for Gannett Fleming, a Harrisburg based international consulting engineering firm, which is ranked in the top 45 engineering firms in the country. She established the Legal Department In 1980 and is responsible for all general corporate legal matters including acquisitions, securities, compliance, litigation, corporate filings and registrations. She also serves as the Corporate Ethics officer and the Facility Security Manager. She is responsible for all insurance placement and manages all company litigation, working with outside counsel, handling insurance disputes and determining strategy. Areas of expertise include contracts, engineering and construction issues, alternative project delivery, alternative dispute resolution, employee relations, commercial insurance and risk management.

She is a member of the Legal Counsel Committees of the Pennsylvania and New Jersey Consulting Engineers Council, the Association of Corporate Counsel and the American Consulting Engineers Council (ACEC) Legal Counsel Forum. She serves as a Hearing Committee Member of the Disciplinary Board of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and is a member of the Architects & Engineers Client Counsel Board for Lexington/AIG Insurance Company.

Ms. McLemore is a graduate of Virginia Tech and received her law degree from the Dickinson School of Law of the Penn State University. She is certified by the Design Build Institute of America.